Helping Jazz Musicians In Critical Need.

Afro-Cuban violin virtuoso Dayren Santamaria arrived from Cuba to Tampa Fl. in 2002, settling in Los Angeles in 2007. Santamaria has played with some of the most important local salsa and jazz orchestras in the City of Angels including Andy Garcia's CineSon band and José Rizo's Mongorama, among others. Recently she has teamed up with Puerto Rican master musician/composer/pianist Oscar Hernandez, founder and director of the Spanish Harlem Orchestra to produce her first solo recording, Belleza (2015), to rave reviews. Dayren's band includes amazing first class musicians who are multiple Grammy winners, joining her to make June 23, 2019 a beautiful and unforgettable night.
